“ My deepest sympathy to you all. Joe definitely loved his card games, whether it was cribbage, euchre, or other games. If you were his partner you better be sure you played the right card 😊. I'll remember his “white” Christmas dinners with Mogan David. Keep all the great memories close to your heart; smile, laugh, and cherish them all!

LeeAnn, my dad would say, a card laid is a card played. He did love his cards. Thanks for sharing.

“ So very sorry for your loss I run the Euchre games at the Delano Legion. Whata shock to all of us He also gave all the lady card players Godiva candy bars as he did last year too. He was a good card player. May he rest in peace. Hugs from all the lady card players

“ Papa (Grandpa), you meant so much to me. You were one of the best father figure roll models, you were generous, always loved to help others and were forgiving. I loved that you'd come to my house to visit me, help me figure out the quirks of my old house, and I loved that you loved my house and spending time with me. I enjoyed learning cribbage from you, and was so proud the one or two times I truly beat you and you didn't let me win either. My favorite times were just sitting with you while you told me stories. Or being on the pontoon just enjoying the evening. I'll always miss you.

“ I played cards with Joe at the Hutchinson Senior Center for several years. Always a great player and fun to have around. This past Valentine’s Day , he brought 2 of us gals a Godiva candy bar. It was our reward for setting up cards every day. I’m going to miss his smile and “what’s your bid” love?

“ Dad,
Today is Sunday. We would talk every Sunday for about an hour. These days will be the hardest for me, but I am thankful for every call. I am missing our call today and will miss it in the future. But I cherished these times and I will always cherish you! Love you dad.
